Getting your TB blood test (IGRA) at a Quest Diagnostics Patient Service Center

You can now get your TB test. DPH has made your lab order for a TB blood test (IGRA, specifically a QuantiFERON-TB Gold Plus IGRA) at Quest Diagnostics.

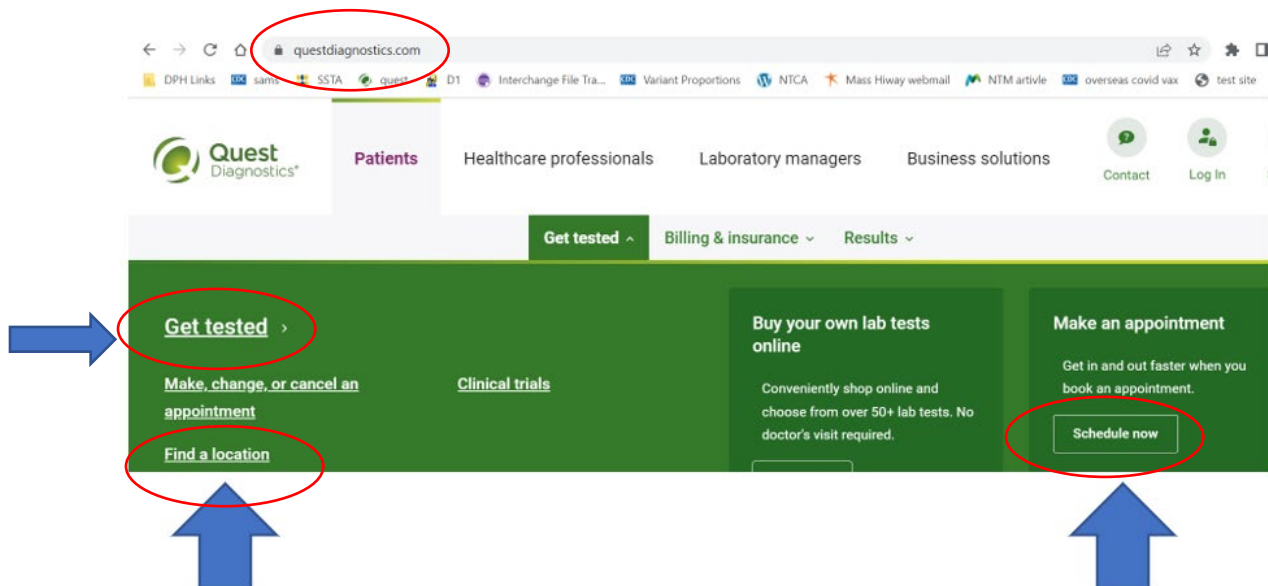

DPH will pay for your blood test when you go to a Quest Patient Service Center.

Where do I go for the test?

There are many Quest Patient Service Centers. Find one that is close to you by following these steps:

1. Go to questdiagnostics.com
2. Click on “Get tested”
3. Click on “Find a location”
4. Choose “All Other Tests” in the Test Needed box and enter your zip code.
5. Click the “Search” button
6. You will get a list of locations and their hours in your area.

You can walk in during open hours. You may schedule an appointment on questdiagnostics.com, but it’s not required. Locations are available.

What do I need to bring?

Bring an ID with your name on it, such as your passport.

Do I need to do anything special before the test?

No. You can eat and drink fluids as usual. Drinking water before your test is recommended.

What happens after my test?

- It will take about one week for your test result.
- DPH will call you to talk with you about your result and next steps.
- DPH will mail you a copy of the test result for your records. DPH cannot e-mail results.
- If you need an electronic copy of the report, you can create a patient account at <https://myquest.questdiagnostics.com/web/home>.
